NUMBERING STREETS

THE PHILADELPHIA SYSTEM OF NUMBERING IS ADVOCATED FOR GLENDALE

Glendale, Dec. 13, 1917.
A. T. Cowan,
Editor Evening News:—

Perhaps I should apologize for using so much of your space, both directly and by proxy, but I feel it necessary to discuss Mr. Lynch's report on street numbering, published yesterday.

To my mind the plan favored by Mr. Lynch for numbering our streets is worse than the one we already have; rather than adopt it, it would seem better to me to change the Tropico numbers to conform with the plan we already have and let it go at that, for his plan, to my mind, would merely add to the confusion we already have.

What is known as the "Philadelphia" system of street numbering, because it originated in that city, has been adopted by almost all cities, so many, that those not using it now are so few as to be an entirely negligible quantity. Briefly stated, the "Philadelphia" system, means starting at some central point, and numbering in each of the four directions, using one hundred numbers to the block, or its equivalent in distance, making the necessary variations for blocks of unusual or irregular length, so that at all times the same house number is approximately the same distance, east, west, north or south, as the case may be, from the starting point.

Mr. Moore mentions the letter and figure plan of naming the streets of Sacramento; the streets of Lincoln, Nebraska, are named on the same plan. It works all right until the twenty-six letters are exhausted in one direction, and until they begin to lay out streets on the other side of First street in the other; then they are driven to using other names, which they might have foreseen in the beginning.

The simplest and most perfect system of naming streets I have ever seen is at Salt Lake City, where all street names begin at the four sides of the temple square, being First South, Second South, etc., and likewise on each of the other three sides of the square, running out from the temple as far as streets may be laid out. But when mentioning "East Second South St.," "North Seventh West St.," etc., the new-comer to that city is immediately up in the air, but he soon becomes accustomed to it, and has no trouble understanding it.

Unfortunately, most of Tropico and part of Glendale was not laid out as regularly as they should have been and so in those parts, a strict rule of thumb can not in all blocks, be enforced, but it can be approximated sufficiently for all practical purposes and not interfere with the Philadelphia system.

On the east side of Central avenue, north of Broadway, the blocks are twice as long as on the west side, thus making it necessary to have two blocks to the hundred numbers on the west side to one block on the east side; let us have no more of that sort of thing than can be helped. Mr. Lynch's plan makes for a lot more of it, in that in the regularly laid off part of the city he would have one hundred numbers extend from Brand to Louise, from Louise to Jackson, from Jackson to Howard, etc. It adds to the confusion.

High numbers make no difference; we already have a sixteen hundred block on Patterson avenue, where I live, and the street is only three blocks long, and one of those is out of the corporation. His plan will afford little relief in that respect, for if First street, begins numbering at the west line, it will have high numbers before reaching Verdugo road. High numbers will be avoided more, by using the Philadelphia system, because of starting in the center of town and numbering each way, so that the numbers could go only half as high as if running continuously across town.

Duplication of numbers can make no difference, and can lead to no confusion, because each number would be preceded by a letter "N," "E," "S," or "W", indicating the direction from the starting point. One cause of the present confusion, is the lack of these letters on most of our street signs. Everybody who ever lived anywhere else understands this system of letter before the number and so can not possibly be confused with its use.

As to locating the numbers and the system from the car windows on Brand, I can see no reason why that can not be done as it is now under the present system (?); but the system (?) is bad to begin with. They all understand the other system and expect to find it, and only it in every city they visit. It is surprising too,

ELKS CLEANING HOUSE

The Elks are in the forlorn condition of housecleaning and are going to be compelled to remain in that condition until they can get into their new club house, which they hope will be the first week in January. Knowing the many slips between the cup and the lip which are to be expected in the completion of a big building, they are not banking on their hopes. Meanwhile, however, the dismantling of their present quarters has begun. Furniture has been sent to the renovators and rugs to the cleaners and members are leading the simple life so far as club furnishings are concerned.

According to the secretary, club membership is growing in a steady but not sensational manner, the enrollment now numbering 680. In normal times with a handsome new club house soon to be occupied, there would be a large accession of members. The club is holding its own, however, and is not complaining. At the present moment, ten applications for membership are under consideration.

Because of club house conditions the Elks will not be able to give their usual Christmas tree and party for Glendale children this year. They regret it exceedingly but promise to make it all up in 1918 by doing the handsome thing by the boys and girls.

They plan to do considerable charitable work, but it may not reach the proportions of former years because of the heavy drains upon the club treasury by its building operations and the various "drives" in connection with the war to which members have been called upon to contribute. The service flag of the club bears 36 stars for members who are now in the U. S. Army or Navy.

WEEK END TRIP

Miss Catherine Phillips, of 710 W. Fifth street, returned Sunday evening from a week end trip to San Diego with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Millar, of Kingsley Drive, Los Angeles. The party left Friday noon reaching San Diego the same evening where they secured quarters at The Grant. Saturday they took in the Linda Vista cantonment where they had nice visits with a number of the Glendale boys. Miss Phillips pronounces the camp beautiful and everything "just lovely," with the boys all as happy as can be. In the evening they took in the ball at the Grant and met more soldiers. On the homeward trip they took in San Juan Capistrano and other points of interest on the way.

PASTOR RITCHIE IN HOLLYWOOD

Pastor Alexander Ritchie, of West Second street, has begun a series of evangelistic meetings in Hollywood where he spoke Sunday evening on Jerusalem and the fulfillment of Bible prophesies concerning it. Now that the Holy City is in possession of the British, interest in the sacred spot which has been such a coveted prize in religious wars of past centuries has been intensified. In his report to the German people of the loss of Jerusalem, the Kaiser emphasized the point that it is of no strategic value though from sentimental association it is desirable to hold.

In his coming meetings Mr. Ritchie will feature the present world war and its relation to the Armageddon of prophecy.

DEATH OF GRAFTON HITCHCOCK

Grafton Hitchcock passed away at 1685 West Seventh street, Glendale, December 16, at 11 a. m., at the age of 41 years.

He leaves to mourn his loss, two children and a wife who is now seriously ill.

Funeral services will be held at the Little Church of the Flowers at Forest Lawn Memorial Park Wednesday at 10:30 a. m., Scovern, Letton & Frey being in charge.

PREFERS LOCAL BUYERS

John Smalley knows the value of advertising in the Evening News. A year ago he advertised walnuts for sale and sold them. Before Thanksgiving he advertised turkeys for sale and sold 46. Now he is advertising walnuts for sale, and he will sell them. Mr. Smalley remarked, "I could get buyers by advertising in the city papers, but so long as I can get satisfactory results by advertising in the Evening News, I prefer to patronize it and in doing this my buyers are local people and I prefer to sell to them. Mr. Smalley's telephone number is Glendale 865-W.

CROZIER AGAIN BLAMES CONGRESS

CHIEF OF ORDNANCE ADMITS THERE IS TOO MUCH RED TAPE IN AMERICAN WAR GOVERNMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 17.—Frankly admitting that there is too much red tape in the conduct of the war, Gen. Crozier again placed the bulk of the blame on Congress in the Senate investigation of the war today. Hot arguments followed, members taking Gen. Crozier to task for blaming Congress for America's unpreparedness.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MONTREAL, December 17.—Canada is voting today on conscription. These women were recently enfranchised and are casting their first vote today.

If he does not place this matter before Congress before tomorrow's adjournment the question will go over until after the Christmas recess. In the meantime the railroad board is striving to prove its ability to continue the efficient operation of the roads during the time of war, seeking to avoid impending government ownership.

LES MEYER FLYING

IS KEPT FROM TAKING FINAL TEST BY BASKETBALL ACCIDENT

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 14, 1917.
Signal Corps Aviation School.
Dear Mr. Cowan:

I have just been sent a clipping from "The News" regarding my friend Jesse Smith enlisting in this branch of the service. Good for Jesse, you were right when you said he should make a good flier.

I have been enlisted in The Aviation Corps since August 4, 1917, and like it immensely. I went through the ground school work at the University of California in Berkeley, and found the work there mighty interesting, although it was hard work.

I graduated from Berkeley on October 27th, and had a four days' leave of absence which I spent at home. Upon reporting back to Berkeley, I received my orders to report to Rockwell Aviation Field, North Island, San Diego. So I've been here every day since November 6th. After four hours and forty-two minutes' instruction I was "turned loose" and have been "flying solo" (as we put it) since, and it is wonderfuly fascinating work. It is individual work, not "following the other fellow" like so many other branches of the service. A fellow is dependent upon himself entirely; it is his own brains, thinking, initiative, ability and nerve which makes or breaks him.

At the time of writing this I am in the hospital on the Island here, with a badly sprained knee, which I got while playing basketball the latter part of last week.

Before getting into the hospital, I was just about to be put to the graduation tests, making "8's", "spirals" "landing for a mark," etc. After successfully completing these tests, we are sent to a "finishing school, where we learn "looping the loop," "tail spins," "side slips," "skids" and all such stunts. We get our lieutenant's commission upon graduation from here.

Best regards from
LESTER L. MEYER,
Flying Cadet S. R. C., Rockwell Aviation Field, North Island, San Diego, Cal.

COCHRANE JOINS SAVAGE ORGANIZATION

J. C. Cochrane who has been engaged in the selling of automobile accessories for more than thirteen years has been appointed Assistant General Sales Manager of the Savage Tire Corporation. Mr. Cochrane is well-known to the trade everywhere but especially so in the West where most of his sales work has been done. Cochrane was one of the first salesmen that traveled for Chanslor & Lyon. He acted as special sales representative for this firm for more than nine years. He was two years Pacific Coast manager for the Hood Tire Company and recently had charge of the Nash Auto Company's wholesale business in Southern California.

Mr. Cochrane is a capable and energetic salesman and an excellent organizer. Through his wide experience he is well qualified for his new duties. Both the Savage Tire Corporation and Mr. Cochrane are to be congratulated.

REGISTRATION BOARD AT WORK

Chairman Lanterman and his assistants on the Exemption Board, were early at work at the Chamber of Commerce this morning. They were none too early however, for the inquirers who commenced to appear as soon as the doors were open. A. S. Mackay, Jr., has been appointed secretary and legal adviser for the Seventh County District and was in his place ready to assist all registrants in a competent manner.

The list of registered men from which the next consignment will be selected to go forward on the 19th, was given the News but does not appear to contain the names of local boys. Until they respond and have been examined, the Board will not know who will be sent. The names follow:

Joseph Paul Chiarodit,
James Benjamin Thompson,
Frederick Eugene Burt,

December 6, 1917.
Miss Eulalia Richardson,
Secretary and Treasurer,
Glendale Branch, Yuletide Com.
Glendale, Calif.

Dear Miss Richardson:—Your letter of December 4th received this morning, enclosing checks totaling $508.54, as Glendale's patriotic contribution in assisting the "National Defenders" Yuletide Committee of Southern California in carrying out its purpose of sending to each and every soldier and sailor, as well as marines from Southern California, the Christmas box.

This is a splendid showing for Glendale, and I am requested on behalf of Mayor Woodman, Chairman of our Committee, and each member of the committee, to thank your committee of which Mr. Mattison B. Jones is Chairman, and the people of Glendale at large, for the patriotic spirit shown and for the very substantial assistance given by this donation. Will you not give this word to your local papers. You will find mention of it in the Los Angeles papers as well, in the next day or two.

The reports from time to time from your committee, the information gleaned from the clippings which came to us from your local press, and some special mention have informed us to some extent, as well as word from Mr. Jones and Mr. Mitchell, but we were agreeably surprised in the amount you have been able to assemble.

You will be pleased to note that the Red Cross are now cooperating with the Yuletide Committee, and are going to work through them in sending of additional boxes to the soldiers and sailors in the camps on the Pacific slope. This will necessitate the packing of some 5000 to 6000 more boxes; this is in addition to the 12,000 boys we are remembering definitely by individual name. However, this additional 5000 or 6000 will not contain the cashier's check which we are enclosing in each box addressed to a definite individual.

We certainly appreciate this movement on the part of the Red Cross. Pass the word along to your local Red Cross, and if there are any further donations received send them along.

The packing of the boxes is now in progress at 113 and 115 S. Broadway, the Yosemite Building, under the direction of Mr. F. W. Blanchard, Vice Chairman of the Committee. The packing is being done by between forty and fifty girls from the high schools of the city, who are donating their services to the fund. If you are in the city at any time, drop in and see the work in progress.

Again thanking you and hoping to see you personally in the near future I am,

Yours very truly,
"NATIONAL DEFENDERS"
YULETIDE COMMITTEE.
EVERETT S. TEASDALE,
Secretary.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1917.

LOCAL DAILY NEWSPAPER IS OF MUTUAL BENEFIT

An increased circulation of the Evening News is of mutual benefit to publisher and resident of the community. A local daily newspaper if properly managed may be of great service in the way of imparting valuable information that can be circulated no other way only at a prohibitive expense. It is the moral duty of every citizen in a community to read the local daily paper if there is one. He knows not at what time an announcement will be made that is of vital importance to him.

Knowing the important part a local daily newspaper plays in a community, the Evening News has many enthusiastic boosters—not boosters for the purpose of aiding the publisher in a personal way, but boosters to make it possible to have a better means of general publicity in the community.

When a club places an announcement to its members in the local daily it is essential that all members be readers of the paper in which the announcement has been placed that the very best results may be obtained. So it is with church announcements and all other information that is for the good of the people in general, the local newspaper is counted upon as the best medium of publicity.

From now until January first the management asks the friends of the daily to aid in every way possible to increase the number of readers of the paper. Only persons who know of the great value a community daily paper is to a city will be expected to aid in this circulation building, but it is indeed encouraging to know that many have volunteered to render assistance in making a stronger and better paper for Glendale.

YOUTHFUL PATRIOTS BIG FACTOR IN WINNING WAR

The children of America are to be big factors in winning this war for their country. In the war savings campaign Uncle Sam is making every boy and girl a partner in the biggest job he ever tackled—the winning of this war. While the adults of the country have absorbed two large liberty loans, aggregating billions of dollars, the war savings campaign gives the children an opportunity for a loan of their own. The new thrift stamps are especially designed for the little folks' savings, and for the grown-ups, who wish to aid the government, but who can not afford to set aside large sums at one time.

Christmas vacation to the school boys and girls in our town is meaning this year new patriotic activity rather than new leisure or new sports. Like boys and girls all over the United States, our local youthful patriots are planning to do their bit by earning money to start their loan to Uncle Sam. They are beating carpets, washing windows, cleaning silver for the Christmas and New Year's festivities, running errands, selling magazines, caring for the baby (their own or the neighbor's), and various other little odd jobs that every ambitious girl and boy can always find to do, and for which he or she can get the pennies, nickels and dimes to be loaned to Uncle Sam

Thrift Stamps cost 25c each, and may be bought at the Post Office, the bank and general store. When twenty of these stamps have been pasted on a Thrift Card, by adding twelve cents they may be exchanged for a certificate that will bear interest compounded quarterly at four per cent until 1923, when the government will pay $5.00 for the certificates.

CHRISTMAS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Although the Christmas Membership drive of the American Red Cross does not begin until Monday, December 17, the success or failure will be determined by the organization work that is perfected before that time, according to W. L. Hathaway, chairman of the campaign for the Pacific Division, which comprises California, Nevada and Arizona.

"The Red Cross is not seeking money in this drive," said Chairman Hathaway in a statement sent to the local chapter last night. "The dollar membership that is attached to each of the 467,000 new members that we must obtain to uphold our part in the National plan is a mere incident to the real purpose of the work. The Red Cross wants workers and it wants 10,000,000 more members to have a vital part in this second line of defense.

"With only 5,000,000 members, the American Red Cross has accomplished a program that will ever be an honor to the history of the nation. The thought that is uppermost in the minds of the National leaders at this time is that the good that has already been accomplished will be more than trebled by the additional membership being sought. We want workers and we want every man, woman and child to wear the emblem of active loyalty, the Red Cross button.

"If there is anyone who doubts that the work of the Red Cross will not be trebled in the remaining months and probably years before democracy is triumphant, that person is not in step with the thought of our National leaders. Problems never met in the history of the world must be solved in the immediate future and there is no organization that will have a greater share than the American Red Cross.

"While I do not believe that the West is behind the East in the matter of patriotism, it is not out of place to point out at this time that if the three states of the Pacific Division gain every new member in the quotas assigned, the chapters of these states will only have a membership proportionate to that of Eastern and Middle West Chapters before the membership drive begins. In the Eastern part of the United States, the Red Cross button is worn by so many that its absence is more a matter of remark than its presence and if this opportunity presented to the citizens in the most attractive form possible by us does not reach the goal set, it should be a matter of person humiliation to every Western citizen."

Because of the nature of Red Cross work and the fact that it is being linked with the Christmas spirit in the present campaign, it has been given to the churches in every community to sound the keynote of the campaign and it is expected that every pulpit will place emphasis on the importance of the work that is to be done in gaining members for the Red Cross.

Ministers of the city will emphasize the Red Cross membership drive Sunday.

STREET LETTERING AND NAMES

Editor Glendale News:

It is not often that I shy my hat into the ring in municipal affairs, unless it is a matter of importance which affects the whole community, or a large portion of it. But I deem the matter of changing the names of long established streets, and the changing of the initial point for numbering streets from where it has been established for a period of thirty or more years, to a new point from which to commence the numbering of the streets and changing the lettering of the streets for the whole municipality, of importance enough to have two sides; and that the question should be presented from both sides. Therefore I would like to shed a few ideas on the subject, although they may be considered antique and out of date.

It is my candid opinion that, if the Trustees of the City of Glendale desire to adjust the street numbers in the annexed territory of Tropico to the best advantage and for the least expense, they should start at or near Ninth street, the southern boundary of Glendale, and continue the numbering southerly on Glendale avenue, Brand boulevard, Central avenue and Columbus avenue to the southern boundary of Tropico; and then adjust the remaining streets in Tropico to conform to the former wherever necessary. This can be easily done and will cause but little change and not much expense to the residents. It is Tropico that is being annexed to Glendale, and I see no reason why the whole valley should be turned upside down in order to make the street numbers all harmonize with the annexed territory, or changed to any other system.

In Glendale proper, the present system of street numbering has been in use for nearly thirty years, and all additions have been made to conform to that system, and it will be simply impossible to change the initial point for numbering the streets to Brand and Broadway or any other point, or to adopt any other system of lettering without creating a large amount of expense and causing an untold amount of confusion. It will make useless all directories, maps and plats; the records of the Assessor and Treasurer; the records of the County Assessor and Tax Collector; all insurance maps; it will necessitate a changing of the street records in the City Engineer's office; it will upset and change all delivery numbers in the Postoffice for the whole district; besides it will necessitate the relettering of every house and building in the whole district. And what will we gain by all of this expense and confusion? Nothing, absolutely nothing. Will it pay?

No ethical, sentimental, or whimsical idea should be allowed to guide in a matter of such importance. Nothing but necessity and actual business interests should be allowed to enter into this question.

The platting of Glendale is and always has been and always will be an abnominable conglomeration, and no system of street numbering will produce an ideal system. You may establish the initial point of numbering at Brand and Broadway if you will, but the stranger will have the same difficulty to find the street numbers as now. If strangers get muddled up now when they find that a portion of West Broadway lies east of Brand, they will always find a sufficient number of loyal citizens of Glendale who will politely inform them that the geographical center of Glendale along Broadway is 150 feet east of Glendale avenue.

If the stranger gets lost in Glendale now, what will the natives do after the new system is inaugurated? Give it up. Everybody is now familiar with things as they are at the present time, and there is nothing to inconvenience or hardships. Then why ask for a change?

It is always easy to start something new; but it is not always safe and wise unless we have well considered the consequences. In 1914 some fanatic or lunatic assassinated the Crown Prince and Princess of Austria, and it has plunged the whole world, both civilized and barbarous, into the most destructive war ever known on this old globe. And while the changing the names and street lettering of Glendale might not have a like disastrous result, it is safe to be right before starting.

I discussed this matter very thoroughly some time ago through the columns of the News, that argument remains unanswered, and holds good at the present time.

Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard are the two best known streets in Glendale. Brand boulevard boasts of two small blocks of business houses, but as a thoroughfare, it gets you nowhere, in either direction. On the other hand, Glendale avenue connects directly with the main business streets of Los Angeles, with the great valleys to the north, and the system of good roads connects us with Pasadena and the great valley beyond.

The travel on Glendale avenue is ordinarily greater than that on Brand, but on any pleasant Sunday there is more travel on Glendale avenue than there is on Brand in a month. The writer counted 80 machines passing on the avenue north of First street in 60 minutes, and it was not much of a day for travel either.

Everybody knows where to hit Glendale avenue, and they also know the location of Brand; both are fine streets. Any change of names of either at this late day would only confuse and muddle the traveling public without conferring any benefits on any one. You might change the name, but you cannot change the location; they are both well fixed in the minds of the people. You might name Brand Glendale boulevard, but the people will always associate Glendale boulevard with Glendale avenue, and the name would never make Brand any better than it is now.

Yes, I am in favor of reform and progress with a big P. But I want to see reforms which make things better than they are now without muddling and mixing everything into chaos. But for the life of me I cannot see where we are going to benefit any, except the company which furnishes the new letters, by creating the expenses and confusion which will necessarily and inevitably arise from adopting any of the systems for changing the names and the street lettering that has been proposed. I think it is always best to let well enough alone.

O. H. JONES.

Personals

Mrs. S. Webb, of 1305 Lomita, has been very ill of something like ptomaine poisoning, but is now recovering.

Miss Doris Ingledue and Miss Eunice Peart have returned from U. S. C. and are spending the holidays with their parents.

Paul McCowan, of 1461 Pioneer Drive, who has been working at the Palace Grand for some time, started Saturday to Garrett, Indiana, to spend a few weeks.

Little G. E. Alexander, 115 E. Park avenue, who was injured by an automobile last week, is said to be practically all right now although not yet able to play with his accustomed vigor.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Moore, of Dinuba, Tulare county, are spending the winter in Glendale and are nicely located at 1304 W. Colorado street. They may like this section so well that they will decide to remain longer.

How many people in Glendale know that our little neighbor on the south, Los Angeles, is the largest city in the United States—not in population, but in area. It has 341 square miles of territory, 21 more than New York City.

Mrs. W. L. Andrews, 1552 Pioneer Drive, entertained over Sunday, R. H. Reynolds, a well known architect of Los Angeles, with Mrs. Reynolds and their daughter Miss Claudia, also L. A. Myers, a prominent Whittier business man and Mrs. Myers.

Miss Blanche Davenport, of Glendale avenue, spent the week end with Miss Lilian Eaton of Long Beach, who is one of the teachers in the San Pedro schools. Miss Eaton will probably be the guest of Miss Davenport this week, as the visit has been planned.

George H. Binns, of 1540 Milford street, Glendale, a Mack Sennet star, was among the many who participated in the Christmas Charity rabbit shoot held at Lancaster, Sunday. Over a thousand rabbits were shot. They will be put in cold storage and delivered in Christmas baskets to the poor on the afternoon of December 24.

Smith's Cyclery knows a good thing when seen. Last week's big ad pulled so hard they're nearly cleaned out of bicycles, but they are ready to dispose of what are left. The repair shop in connection is always busy and the high class work turned out brings the satisfied customer back for subsequent repairs. That attractive show window draws the crowd too.

It seems to be pretty well understood that Camp Kearny, Linda Vista is soon to be depopulated, its contingent of soldier boys going to France. The movement is expected in January. Then the Camp Lewis boys it is hinted, will be moved down to Camp Kearny and given a touch of sunny winter weather as a contrast to the frosts of Washington. Most of the Linda Vista boys are jubilant over the prospect of soon being "somewhere in France."

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Andrews, their son and two daughters, are coming in the near future to spend the winter with Mrs. Andrews' sister, Mrs. H. Bombard, of 214 Tropico avenue. Mr. Andrews owns a large stock ranch on which he raises Hereford cattle for the Kansas City and Denver markets. During his absence his oldest son, who is his partner in the business, will manage the ranch. It is the first time the Andrews family has visited California and they are anticipating much pleasure from their tour and from the visit with Mrs. Bombard.

W. C. Anderson of Gardena avenue, states that some time ago, in response to solicitations sent out by the government for suggestions for combatting submarines, he submitted drawings of an inexpensive appliance which could be used on any vessel and which, while not 100 per cent efficient could be relied upon to destroy many. He gives no particulars of the matter but says he has received encouraging letters from a member of the Committee of Examiners of the Navy Council Board, and is hopeful that something will come of it. He asked no compensation but presented the idea to the government.

If every city in the land is as united in every plan to aid in war preparation as is Glendale, the Germans can find no reason to belittle the effect of America's entry into the war. Liberty bonds, thrift stamps, Red Cross aid, knitting work, all have been entered upon with enthusiasm and work pushed to the limit. The Red Cross benefit last Friday night was an example in point. Throngs of people vied with each other to spend their money in this good cause. We may differ in minor matters concerning this awful war, but we are united in the conviction that it must be pushed to a quick and glorious finish.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Jones who have been residing on Cerritos avenue near Barton Ellison, grandfather of Mrs. Jones, have moved to Long Beach where Mr. Jones is employed in the ship yards.

Friends of Harrison W. Augustus, the mail carrier of Tropico, will be glad to learn that he is recovering from his paralytic stroke and the doctor in attendance is much pleased with his progress on the road to health.

Morris Jackson, now at the San Diego marine hospital is rapidly recovering from a motorcycle accident. He is able to be about with the use of a cane and is expected in Glendale soon to visit his family here at 1416 Milford street.

A picnic in the Big Tejunga was recently enjoyed by Mrs. Charles Branaman and son Russell, Mrs. Budicky and son, William, and Mrs. George H. Binns and her mother, Mrs. Mary E. Mulvihill, who is visiting her daughter for the winter.

Miss Jean Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Anderson, of Gardena avenue, is greatly enjoying her winter in Detroit, and has written of the fun she has been having in the snow. She spent her thanksgiving vacation in Delaware with her uncle, Newton Allen, former minister to Korea.

Mrs. K. R. Sterling, of Tropico, who has suffered from heart trouble for some time, has been removed from her home on Tropico avenue, to the Mission Rest Home on San Fernando boulevard where she can have better care. She is not confined to her bed and will be glad to see her friends in her new quarters.

Mrs. F. A. Roberson, of Tropico, who recently underwent an operation at the Burbank Hospital, is well enough to be brought to Tropico this afternoon. She will be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barton Ellison, of Cerritos avenue, for a short time or until she is able to return to her own home. Her friends will rejoice to know that she is making an excellent recovery.

A PUBLIC PROTEST

Gentlemen—The progressive, law-abiding city of Glendale is confronted with a menace, a disturbing element in the nature of an obstreperous, obnoxious, officious and overzealous police officer, to-wit: Henry W. Hollenbeck, whose unreasonable, unnecessary activities and indiscretions could not continue if they were not encouraged and sanctioned by City Manager Watson.

If the official is blind to the detriment that he is inflicting upon our community it is the duty of your honorable board to intervene.

Officer Hollenbeck's motion-picture sleuth activities have won for him the title of "slew foot." The school children point to him as a terror; the older youngsters with more American red blood in their veins defy him, while the substantial, steady taxpayers are disgusted and look upon the officer's peculiar style of policing as a disgrace, if not actually dangerous to the city. Hollenbeck does not differentiate between right and wrong; he regards the first violation of a city ordinance in the same light as the crook who commits a felony. Hollenbeck is as ready to whip out his gun as his searchlight to tag an autoist for the slightest infraction of the city's rules.

First offenders are dealt with as severely as persistent violators, which is not the custom in other nearby places. The traffic officers in Los Angeles are taught to educate and not to prosecute, let alone persecute. Instances can be cited wherein prospective home buyers have turned their heels on Glendale and located elsewhere simply because of the old country style of police work exhibited by Officer Hollenbeck, who is doing much to make Glendale laughing stock of the country. Already one Broadway theatre in Los Angeles is cracking jokes regarding Glendale's Police work. To narrate Hollenbeck's uncalled for acts would be folly, for the whole city, business men, the property owner and even visitor, is talking.

If your honorable body does not curb the present conditions Glendale will soon be characterized as a "boob town," and we taxpayers, who foot the bills and are filled with civic pride, will suffer.

Petitioning your honorable body to investigate and correct these evils, thereby saving Glendale from further shame, we are

Very respectfully,

COM. OF TAXPAYERS AND BUSINESS MEN.

DRAMATIC SECTION

The regular meeting of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will be held as usual tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, the curator, 101 South Brand. "The Development of the Drama," will be the theme of the section, Mrs. Duffield contributing a paper. Mrs. Greenwalt will give the story of Ruth in dramatic form, and it will probably be one of the most interesting sessions the organization has held. The average attendance of the section is about twenty-five.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The regular Christmas entertainment of the Baptist Sunday School will be held in the auditorium of the church next Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. For weeks the committee in charge of this affair has been working diligently and a splendid program has been provided. The color scheme for the decoration of the church will be red and green and the subcommittee in charge of this part of the work has promised to "doll up" the auditorium in an extraordinarily splendid manner.

Of course, the feature of the evening will be Santa Claus and his Christmas tree. The early part of the evening will be taken up by a program given by the children and the grown-ups, after which Santa Claus will make his entrance in a truly perilous manner, after which he will tell the children all about the hard time he will have had in making his way from the far, far north. He will bring a number of real surprises for the children with him and altogether we expect that Santa Claus will in himself be "a big show."

The admission to this entertainment will be one potato. Those attending, both young and old, will be expected to present their potato at the door before entering. Should the "spud" be forgotten a silver thank offering may be handed to the collector at the door. A committee has been appointed to place these gifts with a number of needy families in our city, this to be done on Saturday in time for Christmas. A prize will be given to the person bringing the largest potato.

A cordial welcome is extended to all of the residents of this section to be present at this entertainment. This is to be strictly a children's service and the adults attending must expect to take a back seat and allow the little ones to be the "big chiefs." Those wishing to bring their children to enjoy this good time will be given an extra-warm handshake and welcome.

CHRISTMAS DONATIONS

The Emergency Committee of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations of which Mrs. E. S. McKee, of 1418 W. Colorado street, is chairman, will be busily employed every afternoon except today at committee headquarters 1208 Broadway, where donations of food, clothing, toys, etc. will be received and arranged for distribution where they will do the most good.

Tomorrow afternoon the Girls' League of Union High is to assist in the cleaning and repairing of toys so they will be attractive to the small boys and girls to whom they are expected to bring Christmas joy. About twenty girls have volunteered for this work.

Wednesday afternoon there will be a conference of the entire committee which is composed of representatives of the various associations which make up the federation. At that time arrangements for distribution will be perfected.

Donations of every sort will be welcome and the committee will be glad to have any one who knows of a family which should be remembered, advise them of the name and address, so it will not be left out.

WOMAN'S DAY MEETING

A splendid porgram has been secured for the "Woman's Day" meeting at the Masonic Temple, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Henry Christeen Warnack, poet, philosopher, writer, and dramatic critic will be the speaker and the committee which has had the responsibility for arranging the affair consider they have provided a great treat for the women of this district, since Mr. Warnack is an exceedingly busy man and in so great demand that it is not easy to engage him. His theme will be, "Women's Work in the War," a subject of vital concern to every woman.

The program will also include the well known Los Angeles vocalists, Mrs. Ina Ryder and Miss Eleanor Coburn, accompanied by Mrs. Coburn. They will contribute both solo and duet numbers. Mrs. H. R. Boyer will give as a piano number her arrangement of the "Star Spangled Banner" embroidered with a medley of patriotic airs.

The meeting is held under the auspices of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the District Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside. It will be a program which will be very much worth while and it is hoped that every woman in Glendale, Tropico and adjacent territory will come out to profit by it. No admission fee will be charged.

MOSHER-RIKE

Stealing a march on their many friends of Los Angeles and Pasadena, Miss Norine Rike of Los Angeles, only daughter of Mrs. Nellie Rike, formerly of Portland, Oregon, and Ezra Mosher, son of Mrs. S. J. Mosher of Glendale, were quietly married at the All Saints Episcopal Church of Pasadena Sunday morning. Only the immediate families of the couple witnessed the ceremony.

The bride, who is very popular among the students of Occidental College where she was a student until this term, wore her traveling suit of taupe shade with a dear little toque and veil to match.

Mr. Mosher is a graduate of Throop College of Technology and is well known in Pasadena and Glendale.

After the double ring ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Mosher left by automobile for a short wedding journey, after which they will be at home to their friends on their ranch near Ontario.

We are now prepared to bomb Berlin from six miles up, by the aid of Liberty motors and Liberty oxygen. Some free air!

An immense system of government supervision of food should give all of us a chance at holding office—all who have an aptitude for the work.

YESTERDAY AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Both sermons delivered yesterday at the Baptist church of this city were given by the pastor, Rev. Vernon C. Cowsert. The congregations at both services were encouragingly large and the brilliant discourses were attentively received.

The subject for the morning discourse was the same as the pastor has taken for the last two Sundays—"He who winneth souls is wise." Rev. Cowsert said in part:

"The word win signifies conflict. One of the chief things in this world that is of such a nature as to be a subject of rejoicing to the Devil is to detract the minds of the children of God from their prime work as Christians, which iis to win others to Christ. The big idea with most of us seems to be about getting ourselves saved, and by centering on this we neglect the very thing that would clinch our own salvation. Many of us consider the church as a means of getting ourselves into the Kingdom of God, or in other words, a secondary fire escape, God being the primary one. The apostle says that many will be saved "as by fire"—their works will be burned up because none of them are worth saving. If the devil can only keep our minds from the primary thing for which we have been saved—souls to God—he is perfectly happy. The world is not going to volunteer to come to God—we must go after it.

"We must not be discouraged. Do the allies stop fighting because of the German successes? Three long years have these nations been struggling. These noble ally nations are more and more determined to conquer against the damnable force which says that "might makes right." In our fight to win souls for Christ we should be equally zealous and determined as are the allies to conquer. I once knew a man who was won after thirty years of praying on the part of his faithful mother. Winning souls means a struggling, means an expenditure of effort. If it is glorious to make sacrifices for our country, how much more glorious it should be to make sacrifices for Jesus Christ. The weapons you have to use are not the gas bomb, the gun or the sword, that are material and carnal, but they are spiritual weapons and we get our supply of ammunition and weapons from God.

"We are not ready to go into the fight unless we are prepared. Our U. S. boys have to go through a thorough training so as to meet the present day method of fighting. So with us in God's fight—we must be prepared. I am so thankful hat the Allied nations are endeavoring to put the sword of God—the bible—in the hands of our boys. Generally when these boys are given their testaments they are at first timid about reading them before the other fellow, but as they approach the battle front this timidity vanishes and they make the reading of their bibles a daily practice. I tell you, friends, that these little books will do their work if given a chance.

"We must believe in the authority of the bible. Some people believe in a bible that has nothing but two covers. Our bible is the complete word of God. 'If a teacher has a dream let him tell that dream, but if he has my word let him preach my word.' Above all things in our work of wining souls to Christ we should use the sword sympathetically in an adapting way. We should learn to rightfully divide the word of truth. There is some particular passage that will fit every particular case and we should learn to wisely select these passages. The word will overcome if we use it as we should. May we apply it in a Christ-like, sympathetic and loving way. It is this love combined with the word and power of God that will enable you to bring others to the Savior."

"The Supreme Sacrifice" was the theme of a sermon by Rev. Vernon H. Cowsert, at his Sunday evening service, in which he compared the spirit of sacrifice as exhibited by Jesus with the spirit that animated the soldier at the front. He expressed some fear that absorption in the events of the war and glorification of the sacrifices made by the men who are doing their part in the world war, may distract attention from the fundamentals of faith and the great central figure in the Christian religion.

The pastor questioned whether courageously facing death as our soldiers at the front are compelled to do, is necessarily a regenerating experience, and he quoted the words of a Presbyterian divine, Dr. McNeal, of Denver and Toronto, who has left his regular work to take an army chaplaincy, to sustain his own questionings. Dr. McNeal has declared he said that many careless, irresponsible, happy-go-lucky men "go over the top" and perform prodigies of valor and yet come back the same men, in no sense regenerated. Something more in Dr. Cowsert's opinion is needed.

He spoke of the purely voluntary character of the sacrifice made by Jesus, not under compulsion of his father, nor because he was constrained to do so by the challenge of the devil, but "to give His life a ransom for many." The point he emphasized was that Jesus Christ voluntarily came for the purpose of dying for the world, and great as his life was, his death was no less important and essential to his mission.

WHOSE HOUSE IS BURNING?

Civilization may be likened to a house where a family live in comfort and ease and the enjoyment of the privileges and security that represent thousands of years of labor.

When a house is on fire it becames the instant duty of the neighbors and of the government immediately responsible for the protection of the householder to render aid—not today or tomorrow, but the moment the flames become visible and it is known that the home and its inmates are threatened.

House on fire ! We hear cries in the street, the rattle and jar of the engines and hose carts as they hurry to the scene of conflagration. The fire is spreading, not one, but a hundred homes are threatened.

When the kaiser began this war for world domination he applied a torch to that house of civilization I have visualized as a home, the repository of every good and perfect gift that has been won for humanity, the very freedom that is its foundation and the peace that is its corner stone.

The kaiser is a mad incendiary. He stole upon the house of civilization in the night and tossed a burning brand through an open window. Life a thief who applies a match to the rear of a house to stampede the inmates and distract their attention while he plunders, the kaiser expected to satisfy a long pondered scheme of robbery and conquest. Civilization slept the sleep of peace to awake in terror.

The kaiser's army, perfected by years of stern training to aid the pyromaniac lord of the Hohenzollerns in his malign purposes, has resorted to every conceivable atrocity to terrorize civilization—not merely to destroy its house, but to murder the inmates or reserve them to a more hideous fate than death.

When we say that this is a war to make the world a safe place for democracy, we mean also that it is to preserve that house of Civilization in which democracy is the altar and sanctuary.

House on fire! It is not for you and me to stand outside and say that it is only a neighbor's house that is menaced. The first German soldier who set foot on Belgian soil threatened your home and mine. He flourished his brand at the home of civilization in which you and I live. He attacked law, liberty, mercy, justice—everything that strengthens and adorns that proud house in which we of America have lived in contentment and peace.

There are things in the humblest home which the owner would not lose without a struggle. When the house gets afire the inmates spring to protect and save those things.

We of America are in this war to protect and save the house of civilization and the proud trophies that represent not only our own struggles and sacrifices but those we inherited from sires who shed their blood for them.

Put out the fire! The more quickly we realize that it is our house that is burning, the more quickly we shall be free to cut away the blackened walls and make the house habitable and secure. We want to see the firemen disperse, the police hustle the incendiary to the lock-up, and the adjusters come in and settle the damage.

The way to hasten this consummation is by aiding our firemen—our army and navy—in every possible way. If we can't carry water or wield the axe on burning timbers, we can stand back of the men who are doing the work—our work, yours and mine. We can pour out our dollars to help them. We can see that the fire fighters are fed and clothed while they are on the job; we can take care of them when they fall injured in our cause.

House on fire! Civilization on fire!

The man who says this is not America's war is asleep in a burning house and does not deserve to be saved by the splendid valorous firemen who are fighting to rescue him.—Monrovia News.

SEA-LION PERFORMERS

Any boy who has gone to a circus knows what remarkable "stunts" sea-lions can perform—human beings can't do some of them. There is, of course the trick of balancing a big ball on their snouts and tossing it from one to another in that way. The sea-lion orchestra is not particularly musical, but the animals can create an awful din by means of horns, drums and bells. The more clever of them can walk up a ladder and down, with a baton on their snout; while others roll over or dive when there is a tank. Each trainer tries new tricks with his lions, making sure first that he can do all the most common ones.

STREET NUMBERING

how many people there are who never think about looking for numbers until they get off the car, and the stranger will invariably aim to get off the car as near the center of the city as possible, before beginning to look for the place he wants to find. I do not think that Mr. Lynch ever finds himself confused in locating himself in Los Angeles, which has the same system of numbering that I advocate, and if he does not become confused there, how can he think that other people will be confused in Glendale when the system is the same that is in use in ninety-nine out of every hundred other cities, and which they have been used to all their lives.

Our city boundary is probably determined on the south and part of the west, but not all of the west. From a point between Seventh and Vine streets, just west of Pacific avenue, as there located, the corporation line runs practically due north following the course of Pacific avenue as laid out or extended, to the shoestring strip running way west to the pumping plant. Between this line and the San Fernando Road is a large area, which, as I understand, is neither Glendale or Los Angeles. It is only a question of time until this territory will be built over, and indeed there are many homes now on it, and in some places rather closely built up too. It can reasonably be predicted that when the time comes, as come it will, this area will be included in Glendale rather than in Los Angeles. Then how would Mr. Lynch number those houses? Or, how will he number them now? They have to have numbers, for the purpose of receiving mail, if for no other. I can see no way out of it except that he would have to put the letter "W" in front of the street name, which is the very thing he tries to avoid in his plan.

And again, the south end of Tropico comes very near to a point. I suppose he would begin the south few blocks with the one hundred numbers; then Pacific does not begin until about Penn street about twelve squares north of the south end of Tropico; then would he begin numbering Pacific avenue, with the one hundred number, the twelve hundreds or something else? Did somebody say something about confusion? And again, should houses ever be built way out on the shoestring strip, how would they be numbered, being far west of Pacific avenue as they would be?

What we should have above all things, is the same system that nine-tenths, or more, of the people who come here, are already accustomed to, that they may not have to learn something else unheard of to them before, and which will be of no use to them after leaving. Let's not have something that will appeal to them as freakish. Remember that when people go away they do lots of talking about what they saw; let them not say of Glendale when they go back to the "United States," or "back east" as so many say, that they saw anything freakish, or even that appealed to them as such, in Glendale, but, rather, let them go back boosting everything that they saw, while in Glendale.

Here is another more homely instance: most of us can recall the days when offices in tall buildings were numbered from one continuously on up as many rooms as there were in the building, and it was very confusing to know what floor to find room No. 73 on. But finally some genius hit upon the happy idea of having the rooms of each floor numbered in the same hundred that the floor was above the ground, so that the merest tyro would have no difficulty in finding the room he was hunting for. If an office building had its rooms numbered that way now, it would be impossible to rent the rooms, for people would not have them, because of the resulting confusion in finding rooms Mr. Lynch's system of having the same hundred numbers apply to several blocks of houses, appeals to me in very much the same way.

Respectfully,
C. W. KINNAN.
